JACQUES CHARLES DUPONT de L'EURE

France authorized a special cancel on October 31, 1998, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the 1848 election of Dupont de l'Eure as President of the Provincial Government of the French Republic.

Born at Neubourg on Feb. 27, 1767, he was admitted as advocate to the parlement of Rouen in 1789. From 1790, when the department of Eure was formed, he played an active role in its affairs becoming Mayor of Neubourg at the age of 25. Thereafter he served as public prosecutor for Eure, deputy for Eure in the Council of the Five Hundred and president in the state court at Rouen. On the establishment of the July monarchy in 1830, he was made minister of justice and keeper of the seals but resigned to rejoin the republican opposition. Active in the campaign for constitutional reform in 1847 he became president of the council of ministers in the provisional government resulting after the Revolution of Feb. 1848. In that role, he proclaimed the Second Republic. Following the elections, he sat for Eure in the constituent assembly for a year. He died at Rouge-Perriers, Eure, on March 2, 1855.

Bro. Dupont de l'Eure was initiated in La Constance Lodge, Evreux, France, in 1809 and became Junior Warden of that Lodge the following year. He frequented the Masonic circles organized by the Empress Josephine. He visited the Lodges in the Valleys of the river Sena between 1827 and 1830. He is also listed in the register books of L'Union Rurale Lodge, Elbeuf, France.

Bro. Donald G. Dalrymple, member No. 313 of Farmington, NM, just finished his year as Master of Four Corner Daylight Lodge #80 in his home town and has been elected President of the San Juan Shrine Club. Further, he is presently serving as Junior Grand Steward of the Grand Lodge of New Mexico - a position which involves visiting different Lodges across the state with the Grand Master. Some Lodges take as much as 6 to 8 hours driving time to visit.

Bro. Gene Fricks, member No. 224 of Clementon, NJ, proudly informs us that at the recent AASR Supreme Council meeting at Atlantic City, he was nominated to receive the 33rd degree in Pittsburgh in 2000.

Bro. Jim Wilson, Past Grand Lecturer of the Grand Lodge of New Zealand and a reader of our Newsletter has offered some comments regarding the facts stated in the recent article on Bro. Richard E. Byrd.

"There has never been a Lodge named 'First Antarctic' numbered 777 holding under the Grand Lodge of New Zealand, nor was a dispensation ever issued by our Grand Lodge to hold a regular meeting in Antarctica. On the contrary, it was simply an informal meeting of Brethren who made up a fictitious name and, thankfully, made a full record of their proceedings. This undoubtedly comprised the very first gathering of Freemasons on the continent..

"However, I have always had some doubts over the claim that sixty of the eighty-two men in the 1933-35 expedition were Freemasons. If that was so, why did only thirteen of them attend that meeting? Did it take forty-seven men to tyle against eavesdropping Adelie penguins?"

He also provided excerpts from a paper he wrote that was published by the Research Lodge of Otago which deals with the subject of Byrd's Expeditions. This paper discusses the various aspects of the Byrd Expeditions and states that the Fez dropped over the South Pole was Bernt Balchen's not Byrd's. Does any member have clarification of this issue? (I have read somewhere that both Brethren dropped Fez's.)

GWMSC POST CARD FOR G. WASHINGTON'S DEATH ANNIVERSARY

George Washington wrote his last letter on Dec. 12, 1799. It was to Alexander Hamilton and in that letter, George discussed the importance of establishing a national military academy. After finishing the letter, George went for his daily horseback ride around Mount Vernon. The day was cold, with snow turning into rain and sleet. He returned to his home after 5 hours of being outside and sat down to dinner without changing his damp clothes. The next day he awoke with a sore throat. He went for a walk and then came back to enter in his diary "Morning snowing & abt. 3 inches deep. Mer. 28 at night." These were his last written words.

Between 2 and 3 A.M. on Dec. 14, George awakened Martha. He had difficulty speaking and was quite ill. James Craik, who had been a friend and doctor to George for many years, hurried to George's side. Dr. Craik called the illness inflammatory Quinsey. More doctors arrived in the afternoon and bled George but he could hardly speak; he told the doctors, "You had better not take any more trouble about me; but let me go off quietly; I cannot last long." About 10 P.M. that evening, Washington whispered; "I am just going. Have me decently buried and do not let my body be put in the vault in less than two days after I am dead, do you understand me?" "Yes, sir" George's secretary answered. Then Washington said: "Tis well". He felt for his own pulse and then he died.

The card shown here is available from the Club Cover Chairman, Bro. Paul M. Williams, 2364 Beaver Valley Pike, New Providence, PA 17560. The cost is $1.00 each plus a SASE for the order.

ELDEN L. "SUBMARINE" AUKER

Bro. Stan Longenecker recently read an article about the last game celebration in the old Tiger Stadium in Detroit. It mentioned that many old time Tiger stars were there to celebrate - from the most recent players back to Elden Auker. He sent for Bro. Auker's address and secured his autograph on on a Baseball cover for a fellow collector in Canada. Elden Auker turned 89 in 1999 and lives at 15 Sailfish Road, Vero Beach, FL 32960. He played with the Tigers from 1933 to 1938 and then was traded to the Red Sox where he played for one year (1939). He ended his baseball career with the St. Louis Browns playing from 1940 to 1942. His career win-loss record was 130-101 and his best season was in 1935 with an 18-7 record. If he were playing today, he would be making a fortune.

A May 8, 1938, sports page article also sent along details a game between the Yankees and the Tigers before a crowd of 41,070 featuring Lefty Vernon Gomez against Elden Auker. Rallys by the Yankees in the first two innings drove the star underhand pitcher to the showers abnormally early. Bro. Auker is a member of Kansas Lodge No. 317. Covers done by Bro. Stan (Natsco) in 1989 and 1995 featuring Bro. Auker are shown here.

AUSTRIAN ANSWER TO SERBIA ANTI-MASONIC STAMPS

The set of four stamps issued by Serbia in 1942 for the "Anti-Masonic" Congress has been presented and discussed previously. The harsh propaganda and actions of this issue did not go unnoticed or unanswered postally. On September 16, 1946, Austria issued a set of eight semi-postals (Scott B171-78) to raise funds for anti-fascist counter propaganda. Four of these Austrian stamps closely mirrored the imagery of the Serbian issues, but inverted the messages to attack the fascists of the former Reich. The Austrian semipostal designs demonstrate the manipulable nature of propaganda and philatelically suggest that what goes around, comes around.

DAVID LaTOUCHE

David LaTouche was the Deputy Grand Master of Ireland in 1767. When in Dublin, he resided at 52 St. Stephens Green, one of the finest of the old city mansions, built in 1771 to his orders. His "Country seat" was at Marley Grange at Rathfarnham in County Dublin.

He was the Member of Parliament (in Ireland) for Dundalk in Co. Louth from 1761 to 1768 and then for Longford from 1769 to 1783 and finally Belturbet from 1783 to 1790. He was made a Privy Councillor and was, from 1801-1817, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Royal Dublin Society. He also held many other public positions of trust.

On the dissolution of the Irish Parliament in 1800, after the Act of Union, there were five members of his family that were elected to represent constituencies in Ireland at the House of Commons in Westminster in London. His grandfather, a French Huguenot, established a bank in Dublin, so well known as "LaTouche's". David LaTouche was made the First Governor of the Bank of Ireland in 1783.

Several Ireland stamps can be used to illustrate this Mason: Scott 84 (S.G. 93), 1931, and Scott 514 (S.G. 509), 1981, issued to note the Royal Dublin Society and Scott 558 (S.G. 553), 1983, to mark the Bicentenary of the Bank of Ireland.

NEW READERS DON'T START HERE

Issue No. 86 of The Masonic Philatelic Club Magazine (Great Britain) includes an excellent, but discussion provoking, article by Bro. Maurice Beazley, Secretary of the Great Britain Unit and member of our MSU/ATA concerning the acceptance of "dubious" cases. He laments the fact that even today there are several names still bandied about for which the evidence of the individual's Masonic membership is negative. He also makes a very positive statements regarding Bro. Trevor Frey's strict criteria and that "The Masonic Philatelic Club is, in effect, the final arbiter on the authenticity of claims submitted for verification, and our reputation depends on the utmost vigilance being maintained."

I, personally, and, I believe, many of our members, respect that position knowing full well that I have been guilty of "bandying about" probable non-members. (I still cite new issues picturing Albrecht Durer's works.) We in the US were guilty of the mis-interpretation of information which resulted in the temporary claim that Louis Armstrong was indeed a member of the Craft. Fortunately, in that situation, we were able to trace back to the mistake and make amends. In several of the ten individuals cited in Bro. Maurice's article, the available information and claims stretch back centuries. There have been countless researchers over the decades who have diligently documented their efforts and yet we, in later years, are prone to dispute the results with no more positive evidence on the other side of the issue.

Some dubious cases have been able to be resolved with no difficulty. Bro. Bernt Balchen was able to dispel the myth of Roald Amundsen's membership through personal association with his fellow explorer. Robert S. S. Baden-Powell's possible membership was categorically denied by his son. There is sufficient documentation which exists to demonstrate that Charles Dickens can best be termed an Anti-Mason rather than a Mason. Here, across the Atlantic, John J. Audubon's membership claim seems based on a few references in his diaries that are not strictly Masonic in nature and there is no positive proof.

The cases that concern me are those involving more long standing "debates" such as James Cook, Horatio Nelson, Christopher Wren, Ludwig Beethoven and Napoleon Bonaparte. In addition to many reference books, I have the privilege of having been able to obtain the extensive card files of the late Bro. Marshall Loke, an eminent Masonic researcher of the second half of the 20th Century. When I consult his files on Horatio Nelson, I find statements that his membership is not certain but there is nothing startling that it has been disproven. The uncertainty statement was tied to a reference to the "History of Freemasonry in Norfolk" by Hamon Le Strange and A.Q.C. Vol. VII, p. 109. Further it includes a quote from Q.C. No. 2076, 12 Feb. 1965, Lodge minutes of December 16, 1805, of Union Lodge, York, No. 33 (now York Lodge No. 236) which read: "Bro. W. Master proposed that a public Procession should take place on the Interment of our Departed Bro. and Hero Lord Nelson." Other references cited are from H. S. Banner's book, "These Men Were Masons".

In the case of Christopher Wren, Anderson recorded that "The Earl of St. Albans was Grand Master in 1663 with Sir John Denham as his deputy grand master and Sir Christopher Wren and John Webb as his grand wardens." Granted, this reference is to a time that precedes organized Masonry as we now know it but when the tie from Operative Masonry to Speculative is disproven, we can disregard Bro. Wren.

The purpose of my discussion here is in no way to try to find fault with the strict approach being taken by the Masonic Philatelic Club - in fact they do an excellent job of "keeping us in line". Rather, it is a plea that all researchers and collectors be allowed to follow their own principles, conclusions and desires - not being forced to take any position in disputable cases. As more and more documents and information are discovered, further insight into older issues can be gained. When positive evidence is available regarding an individual's non-membership, we can then discard those stamps from our collection. While the debate still rages, however, we should keep our minds, eyes and ears open for all new information, properly evaluating the source and potential credibility.
